MAHA Officially Secures a 4-Year Contract with PT Ade Putra Tanrajeng

JAKARTA, 8 October 2026 – PT Mandiri Herindo Adiperkasa Tbk (“MAHA”) or Mandiri Services, a leading provider of industrial and mining commodities transportation services, is pleased to announce that the Company has secured a strategic contract with PT Ade Putra Tanrajeng, a subsidiary owned by PT Kutai Bara Nusantara, for the provision of coal transportation services through 2030.

The acquisition of this contract strengthens MAHA's position in dominating the mining commodity transportation business in Indonesia. MAHA has evolved into one of Indonesia's largest dedicated coal hauling operators, with a strong long-term operating record and diversified exposure to high-quality coal producers.

The contract is estimated to have a total value of approximately up to DR 2,2 trillion and covers a range of integrated and long-term operational activities. This agreement represents a strategic milestone for MAHA, contributing positively to the Company's project portfolio and supporting its future revenue growth.

The President Director of MAHA, Yenny Hamidah Koean, stated, "We are grateful for the trust placed in us by PT Ade Putra Tanrajeng. This contract demonstrates our capabilities in providing reliable, efficient, and safety-oriented mining commodity transportation services. We are optimistic that this collaboration will bring added value to both parties."

This agreement is in line with MAHA's long-term strategy to expand its client base, strengthen strategic partnerships, and continuously enhance operational excellence through competent human resources and industry best practices.
